WOMEN STORM MEAT MARKET

Housewives Show Disapproval of Merchants Who Fail to Cut Prices as Was Agreed.

Berlin, Oct. 23.—Hundreds of Berlin housewives joined in a riot today because the butchers in the municipal markets refused to handle meat imported so as to reduce the cost of living.

The principal trouble occurred in the Wedding district—which is entirely inhabited by working people. Hundreds of women who went to the municipal market hoping to profit by reduced prices found that the butchers had agreed not to deal in meats imported by the municipality.

They then stormed the butchers' stalls, seized all the native raised meat, trampled it on the ground and fought with the butchers. The police were forced to close the market to stop the riot.

The price of commodities are so high in Berlin that the government recently gave permission to the city authorities to bring in and sell meats from abroad to sell and control the prices. The butchers at first agreed to handle these meats but late last evening announced that they had decided on a general boycott of them in the twelve municipal markets of Berlin.

The municipality declares its intention of punishing the butchers by cancelling their licenses.

BRESNAHAN SAYS HE'LL FIGHT

Deposed Manager of St. Louis National Club Declares He Will Go to Court to Test Contract.

St. Louis, Oct. 23.—"Fight? Am I going to fight? Well, I guess quit." Roger Bresnahan, deposed manager of the St. Louis National League club, declared today. "I am ready to fight for my rights and will go into any court they want me to. I never quit on the ball field and I won't quit now."

Rumors were in circulation today that President Robert L. Hedges of the St. Louis Americans was after Bresnahan to manage his club next season and was ready to pay the catcher the $10,000 a year his contract with the St. Louis National League team calls for, but not the 10 per cent of the profits. It is believed Bresnahan would be peculiarly suitable to the local American League team, because of his ability to steady young pitchers. The American League team has a number of promising youngsters.

INVESTIGATING CUBAN CASE.

Charge of Attack on American Women Being Probed.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Senior Rivera, minister from Cuba, is investigating the case of Jose J. Zarza, attaché of the Cuban consul's office at Newark News fined $500 and sentenced to three months in jail, the result of an encounter with Charles F. Brown in an affair involving an alleged insult to Brown's wife.

On the result of the minister's investigation will depend whether the Cuban government will make any representations to the state department.

Captain Sherrill Advocates Buying Overflow Land Along Mississippi.

New Orleans, Oct. 23.—Captain C. O. Sherrill, in charge of the Fourth Mississippi river district, left Monday for St. Louis, where he will recommend to the Missouri river commission that the government should purchase and develop land in the east bank of the Mississippi in Louisiana and Tennessee.

Captain Sherrill's recommendation will be based on survey of the lands in question authorized by congress.

Overflow lands in Mississippi were found to be subject to levee control.

He testified that he attended a meeting of the timber workers near Grabow after the strike was on and before the riot, and that Covington Hall of New Orleans, a socialist, one of the speakers, said:

"Boys, we'll win this strike, if we have to do it with guns."

Kerr added that one of his workers quit the day following that meeting because he feared trouble was coming.

DEMOCRAT'S AID SOUGHT.

Cato Sells Urges Support of Women in Campaign for Funds.

Cleburne, Oct. 23.—National Democratic Committeeman Cato Sells said today he greatly hopes that every man in Texas who is interested in a democratic presidential victory will show his gallantry by giving all possible assistance toward making a notable success of the women's Wilson and Marshall day of next Friday, Oct. 25, when they will make concerted efforts to raise campaign funds.

Judge Sells said it is highly important to have our mothers, wives and daughters thus aid in our efforts to elect to the presidency one of the greatest statesmen the nation has ever produced and that it should be equally pleasing for us to earnestly join them in this helpful expression of their choice of Mrs. Wilson to preside in the white house, as the worthy successor of Dolly Madison, and Mrs. Grover Cleveland."

ALL WILL CLOSE FOR PALACE.

President Hoffmann's Committee Meets With Decided Success.

Furthering plans to get the merchants and business men of Waco to close their establishments and shops at 6 o'clock Saturday, November 2, the opening day of the Cotton Palace, and on Tuesday afternoon, November 5, Waco day at the Exposition, the committee, of which President W. H. Hoffmann is chairman, was out yesterday calling on more of the merchants.

"We have met with success every place we have visited so far," said Mr. Hoffmann in an interview. "I believe that all of the larger merchants will close promptly at the hour they have agreed to, and we are going to see the others and the smaller merchants before we close our closing campaign for the first day and Waco day at the Cotton Palace."

MISS MADENI WHITE A BRIDE AT SAINT PAUL'S ALTAR

It is seldom that a young bride has her wishes so perfectly carried as did Miss Madeni White. The youngest daughter of the home, and a beloved daughter at that, it would seem that this marriage service so acceptable to the home should be given more emphasis. But it was not the wish of this young woman who felt the sacredness of the moment and desired only to go into the church where she had worshipped and there consecrate her life for better or worse to the man who had wooed and won her. Absolutely no detail marked this ceremony. Still it was sweet and it breathed the sentiment which it marked. A half hundred friends, those nearest the bride and her family, were invited by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. White, to be present at Saint Paul's Episcopal church at high noon on Wednesday. The organ notes from Professor Parham signified the service. Reverend Wissell entered the chancel followed by the groom, Everett Marvin Elkins of Dallas, accompanied by Mrs. White. In the meantime Miss Laura Weed of Austin, and Mrs. Camille White Franklin preceded the bride, who was led to the altar and given into the keeping of the husband who is now.

From the church immediate passage was taken to the station and in ten minutes Mr. and Mrs. Elkins were on their way for the first wedded days in San Antonio. They promise a stop here on their return to Dallas, where they will be permanently. This is the simple account of the marriage of dainty, refined Madeni White. But shorn of details, as she decided her wedding should be, the event is still marked far beyond the immediate home. The mother's family, one of the pioneer of Austin, visits to the sister, Mrs. Edgar Talley, and residence in Oklahoma, beside travel, has made a circle of friends who do not pass this event by without that benediction which true friendship gives. Mr. Elkins is in the insurance business, a young man who receives promotion rapidly, which means trust and confidence imposed in him. Mr. and Mrs. Elkins will be frequent visitors here, it is to be presumed. Then friends will be afforded the privilege so far denied, that of meeting personally the young man who wooed and won sweet, gentle Madeni White.

THE SYMPATHETIC WORD GOES TO MRS. TRIPPLETT

The many friends of Mrs. T. E. Triplett had scarce realized that sorrow had come to her before the word of sympathy went over to Corsicana. The press report is meager, saying that Mr. Triplett passed away suddenly. But Mrs. Triplett's long residence here and her identification with many of woman's measures, makes her recalled with friendly feeling, although Corsicana has been her residence for the past few years. It is hoped that she will now return to reside in Waco.

WEDDING IN NASHVILLE OF INTEREST LOCALLY

Tonight in Nashville occurs a brilliant wedding in which the groom is a former Wacoan. He is Preston Lumsford, son of Reverend and Mrs. Lumsford, who resided on Speight street, while Dr. Lumsford was pastor of the First Baptist Church. The bride is a prominent young woman—Mrs. Mary Lumsford of Waco, and the ceremony tonight will be one of wide-spread interest and a degree of brilliancy. Invitations are with Waco friends.

YOUNG MARRIED WITH RIBBONS

At the last meeting of the Young Married Club, Mrs. W. B. Lewis Early was elected president. Two were absentees.

Early entered the club and prizes were awarded to the winners.

William Early was elected vice-president.

At the next meeting, the club will be filled with the vacancy caused by the going abroad of Mrs. Ray Coleman.

Mrs. W. B. Knight, delegate, and Mrs. Robinson alternate, were selected to represent the club at the state convention in Fort Worth. The papers of the afternoon were excellent. These were the review of Genesis by Mrs. J. W. Byars and of Exodus by Mrs. Susan Thornton Price. A reading bearing upon Bible study was read by Mrs. Willard Jackson. The Press club has heretofore found the Round Table one of its most interesting as well as beneficial features. This year finds no substitute a general discussion after each paper. The membership is full and two applicants are on the waiting list.

LUNCHEON WITH MRS. FORT FOR MRS. MITCHELL LYON

One of the luncheons courtesies paid Mrs. Mitchell Lyon found Mrs. Walter Fort hostess. This was the first social attention paid by Mrs. Fort since her long retirement from the social world. It was also the first welcome of invited guests into her new, cozy little home. In addition, it was an emphasis upon the coming of the cousin from San Francisco to spend a few weeks among her girlhood friends. In all, although a small affair, Mrs. Fort's luncheon made an event worthy of note. Her guests were: Madelaine Lyon, Norman Shumate, Walter Gregg and W. W. Cameron.

MRS. LLEWELYN AUBREY A CARD HOSTESS

Invitations were sent out by Mrs. Llewelyn Aubrey on Wednesday for a card matinee on the afternoon of next Tuesday. This is in welcome. Miss Jean Aubrey from San Antonio who comes as the Cotton Palace guest of Mrs. Aubrey. Since this is a return visit the card courtesy is void to the friends of the former.

CURIOS COMMITTEE CALLS FOR COTTON PALACE RELICS

SOCIETY NOTES.

And now we are coming to the centenary of Thanksgiving. If it brings forward the interest which has been shown over Thackeray's contemporary Charles Dickens, the literary world has something to gain. These centenaries are a wonderful impetus to study.

Miss Camille Webb is due from Albany as the Cotton Palace guest of Mrs. Llewelyn Aubrey.

The Round Table is in session this afternoon with Mrs. J. J. Kesler on South Tenth.

Mrs. Mitchell Lyon, the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Norman Shumate, is due from her few days' visit to Dallas tonight. Several affairs are planned in honor of Mrs. Lyon, one a luncheon out at the Huaco Club on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Edmund will, within the next few days, become members of the M. C. H. Park house on South Fifth.

The weather and other obstacles have prevented the completion of the handsome home for Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Freeman out on Provident Heights. They will not open this home for several weeks.

Misses Marjorie Crawford and Nancy Lucy are in Temple for the opening ball of the season. The opening has a handsome new home for the Elks Club; Mrs. James Riley is chairman.

It is pleasing news that the announcement of a Houston business connection for Mr. R. T. Crawford does not take Mrs. Crawford and Miss Crawford from their friends here, for several months at least.

It is the present intention of Mrs. Julia Henry to arrive at home before the Cotton Palace days. Mrs. Henry is stopping with relatives in El Paso en route home from her summer trip to California.

The Madames Fred Meyer and Homer Wilson, who have been summer lingers in Colorado, have sent the pleasing message that they will arrive at home on Friday.

Mrs. S. E. Stratton is, since Wednesday, matron of the Charles Youngs place on Washington street.

This afternoon Miss Frances Allison and Mrs. Edgar Witt will entertain the pupils and parents at the high school who go to see the picture exhibition.

The Maids and Matrons will play the same game of five hundred dollars with Mrs. M. D. Baker on Washington street this afternoon.

Mesdames J. L. Dribelbush from Dallas, and Elvies Hulsey from Corsicana, are expected to visit Mrs. W. W. Seelye at Cotton Palace guests.

The B. C. Garland residence on North Fourth is taking on a large addition which will materially add to the appearance of its neighborhood.

Misses Marjorie Crawford and Nancy Lucy are in Temple for the opening ball of the season. The opening has a handsome new home for the Elks Club; Mrs. James Riley is chairman.

It is now expected that Mrs. J. J. Grier will patronize the Second and Presbyterian Mapse with the coming week.

Owing to the absence of Miss Marjorie Crawford, who was to have been hostess, Miss Mary Glover will have the Bachelor Maids with her this afternoon.

Mrs. Gabriele Herndon, who spent the entire day of the week with Miss Edna Ewing on Terrace Row, again at home in Temple.

A later decision than her intention to visit her mother, Mrs. T. A. Blair, and all her girlhood friends during Cotton Palace season will delay Mrs. Violet Blair Westbrook in Arizona.

After the summer and the early autumn with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Newman, Mrs. Frederick Eby is again matron of a home in Austin and a member of the State University colony.

Elmer Hubbard certainly let the laughter into our life, and nothing re-invents more than that same laughter.

Miss Rowena Barnett will be up with the State University ball excursion.

Indiana Race Interests Ask Court to Act Regarding Question.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Officers of the Mineral Springs Racing association today applied to Judge McMahon of the circuit court at Valparaiso, Ind., for an injunction against any further interference with the race meeting by Gov. Marshall and the state militia.

Mesdames J. L. Dribelbush from Dallas, and Elvies Hulsey from Corsicana, are expected to visit Mrs. W. W. Seelye at Cotton Palace guests.

The Shakespeare Club voted to patronize an engagement with Bertha Kume Baker in early spring.

Mrs. W. E. Spell has been an indefatigable worker on the Wilson campaign fund. She is to patronize another venture for Friday. Every single woman in Waco should rally to this. The one patriotic woman should not bear the burden.

It is now expected that Mrs. J. Grier will patronize the Second and Presbyterian Mapse with the coming week.

Fossi and Lepper, bar tenders, were killed after a holiday with two women. One of the women left the scene before the murders and the other's story of the negro who was discredited by the police at first. The girl said that the negro killed the two men, assaulted her. This the negro denied in his confession.

Johnson is said to have given the inquisitors important information. His story is said to be of equal importance with that told yesterday by the Camerons. As he entered the jury room the negro was heard to declare.

It is the hand of God. The Lord has taken this fellow in hand and is directing justice at him.

Johnson's Kin Testifies.

The Cameron girl was not recalled before the jury today as had been expected.

Neither was her mother recalled. It is said, however, that Lucile will be one of the main witnesses on Monday when the investigation is resumed.

Johnson seemed to be overjoyed at the opportunity of telling his story. He was in the jury room for nearly two hours. A sister of the defendant ready to testify, but she was not called before the trial began.

The only other witness to testify was Joseph Lee, the champion's secretary.

Mrs. Cameron-Fanecon, mother of the Cameron girl said today there had been a complete reconciliation between her daughter and herself and that the latter now was willing to disclose her story.

A development of the case was a suit filed against Johnson by Willard Davis, a mulatto for $25,000 for the alleged alienation of his wife's affections. The wife is said to have been a singer in the champion's cafe and it is reported she was the woman who federal authorities declared Johnson in the foot several days ago while in a jealous rage.

THE CITY TAX RATE.

When it is considered that within 75 cents the city commission has cared for, in the new tax rate, nearly all of the increases and betterments asked by the several departments and boards, the commissioners well may be commended for their work. The tax rate for the current year is an increase of but 25 cents over 1911; with that increase is provided the means for improved operation of departments and greater facilities for the boards in control of the city's utilities and institutions. Some days ago The Waco News estimated that $1.70 to $1.75 must be the tax rate if the several budgets and appropriations requested were even partially granted. The rate now fixed bears out this newspaper's speculation and suggestions regarding the most urgent needs that should be given preference.

To be sure, there was required a judicious scaling of the budgets and estimates. To have granted all would have meant the imposing of a rate of nearly $2.00, if not over that figure, and the commission's better judgment, apparently, was opposed to ordering such an increase in a single year. Undoubtedly it has satisfied the majority of taxpayers by that decision, even though there is a substantial public sentiment in favor of proceeding at once toward a general plan of city improvement that will involve heavy expenditures for paving, streets and sewers.

Acting along sensible lines, the commission also has found the line of least resistance, in the matter of sealing the appropriations. Comparatively, of course, an increased sum for the park and the library might be termed "luxuries" by some citizens. Still, it is gratifying to note that the library gets the $4,800 it requested; it needs much and asked for little. It is regrettable the park could not have its $15,000 this year, for undoubtedly it is in need of a deal of improving, but this estimate was one that must, in the general apportionment, come in for considerable scaling. It is hoped that the park, each year hereafter, may receive proportionately larger increases than it was given this year, but even the present increase should count for something in the way of improvement.

The mayor's advice on the offer of the fire commissioner to cut the budget of that department was eminently proper, and will be approved by every citizen. The efficiency of Waco's dependable fire department must not be impaired by the loss of a few thousand dollars. Business men and property owners, concerned with their already too high insurance rates, would object to curtailment strenuously. This is one of the city departments that must be kept up to increasing efficiency yearly, even at the sacrifice of other improvements.

For new street improvement the city will have $50,000; not as large a sum as the advocates of more rapid and extensive improvement would desire, but sufficient to keep the department busy and to macadamize a few of the thoroughfares in the newer residence sections that are now sloughs after every rain.

All things considered, the commission has done well and dissatisfaction with the 25-cent increase will be the exception among Waco's taxpayers.

ELBERT HUBBARD.

A cluster of phone calls from several women and one man, and three miniature letters on the subject, indicate that some Wacoans who heard Mr. Hubbard Monday night are not in accord with The Waco News' introductory estimate of this noted entertainer. That is wholly natural and altogether desirable, else—alas for Hubbard!

This editor disclaims authorship of the criticism, but agrees with it heartily.

Criticism and opinions of any lecturer, any theatrical performance and Mr. Hubbard differ as widely as the temper, taste and experience of the auditors. The critic of one big New York daily will massacre and murder the first-night performance of a play widely and wildly heralded as the London success of ten years; his next-door neighbor critic will find in that same play the answer to every problem, human and divine, a masterpiece of writing and acting. So goes it.

Being no Iberian villagers, we have heard Mr. Hubbard before, in several places and on several themes. We have heard him beautifully trounced in theological debate. He arrived at a time when this country, especially in the East, was swayed by an appetite for the unusual and unconventional. The East Aurora was a roaring success in this regard—he filled the bill. Some people called him a master of English writing, a philosopher, poet, humanitarian. Some

I place the seal of my approval upon the wild, majestic sea—Walt Mason. Roll on, thou damp and dripping ocean, roll. Henceforth all slurs upon thee are vain.

Should auld acquaintance be forgot, the days of nineteen-four? When Archbold gave six figures and our Pierpont even more?

OVER-CONFIDENCE.

Even at this late day, with the voting booths being knocked together and the ballots printed, with every indication pointing to the election of Governor Wilson and a Democratic National government, serious, sane and strong papers like The Baltimore Sun urge the Democracy to be not over-confident. Its comment on the "straw votes" taken by the New York Herald is illuminating in this respect, and commands thought for The Sun, being in the loudest of the nation's political seething, has its ear to the ground to avoid being confused by the senseless clamor at a higher level.

His "Message to Garcia" and his "Man of Sorrows" may live; no doubt the former will live, for it has an universal circulation second to no foreign writing except the Bible. It is splendidly written, its lesson admirable. The other—a character sketch of Jesus of Nazareth—is striking in its modern, human, man-like treatment of one who was above all things a man. That is all the best that may be said of the prolific writings of Elbert Hubbard. These two works of his are worth-while; "The Man of Sorrows" if for no other reason than the author's estimate of the parable of the good Samaritan as the most perfect gem in all literature. His estimate is true.

Our criticism does not deny Hubbard is an expert entertainer; entertaining even in the affectedly grotesque and uncouth gestures and mannerisms to which some intelligent hearers really object. He is a pose, no more striking and unusual. Doesn't he admit it? Entertaining, too, in his able rehashing and clever rearrangement and rephrasing of the best of all that is good in the classics, the philosophers, the makers of literature and the scientists. Will any business man, who has read and heard, say that the "romance of business" brings a message either new or novelly useful? His quoted precepts are good—but they are not his.

That is the chief criticism thinkers have to offer of Hubbard—not chronic dyspeptic detractors, but thinkers: he runs afoul of his own declaration that a speaker should "bring a message." Perhaps Hubbard brings a message, if, paraphrasing Emerson, "next to the originator of a good sentence is the first misquoter of it." Hubbard misquotes, he does not quote; he parades, and is a wonder at it. Giving him his due, he frequently recalls the declaration of Solomon; but even so, he does, admittedly, merely put one best of old books into new phrases, will he be greeted as a messenger by any of his hearers?

Hubbard is a capable entertainer. So is M. P. Wilder, so are Weber & Fields, Burton Holmes, La Follette & Beveridge—so is DeWolf Hopper with "Casey at the Bat." He is an excellent literary reminiscencer and compendium. So is the Literary Digest and World's Work.

That delicately tinted, delicately scented note protests that The Waco News did not give Mr. Hubbard credit for his "exquisite talents." Yes, we did, but we called them "eccentric."

It is a laboriously rehearsed eccentricity of speech and presence, and we do not "fall" for it overmuch.

A GROWING INDUSTRY.

The Waco News extends to the Waco Sash and Door enterprise its congratulations on the opening of its big new plant. That success is certain for this factory, and for every big industrial plant making its home in Waco, we are assured by the showing made by all well-operated factories throughout this section of Texas. The sash and door industry is comparatively a rare one this side of Houston, and its extension in Waco means much for the city.

Waco Sash and Door, hitherto overtaxed even with Texas orders, will carry its product throughout the South and Southwest. That means prosperity in big proportions for the factory, the advertising of the city throughout the region wherein it trades. "Wasadoco" doors and glazed windows will be the company's and the city's asset.

With an East Texas railroad connection practically assured for Waco by the Katy's recent purchase of the Beaumont & Great Northern, the lumber manufacturing industry opens up with wide possibilities for this central city. A few years, it is said in many quarters, will bring to Waco an industrial development along these lines that will be a powerful factor in the city's extension.

I place the seal of my approval upon the wild, majestic sea—Walt Mason. Roll on, thou damp and dripping ocean, roll. Henceforth all slurs upon thee are vain.

Should auld acquaintance be forgot, the days of nineteen-four? When Archbold gave six figures and our Pierpont even more?

Waco Warblings.

The State Fair of 1912 is going to finish in a blaze of glory—then for the Waco Cotton Palace.—Dallas Times-Herald.

Neither the State Fair nor the Cotton Palace has ever been known to go to blazes—financially.

The Praetorians are preparing plans for the erection of a five-story building at Waco.—Lufkin News.

Let State Press make note of this other nucleus of another skyline.

Waco had a half-foot of rain last week. The town may have needed the soaking, but we don't believe it.

Palestine Herald.

Is that a pat, or a punch? Do you mean that those who were soaked did not need the sobering shower, or those who were sober did not need the soaking shower? Enlighten. No dust to town or no town to dust?

Casus Culberson?

In Senator Culberson is opposed to the proposed revision of the railroad stock and bond law, it is probable, of course, that his attitude will be influential with many members of the legislature. But this will not deter advocates of necessary changes from pressing the facts, which in their opinion irresistibly argue that a revision is desirable and necessary. Senator Culberson declares that the stock and bond law and the railroad commission law should be "resolutely maintained unimpaired." "Instead of repealing or substantially modifying these laws, as has been suggested in some quarters," we join him in opposing the repeal of the laws; also in opposing "substantial" modification of them. But we do say that the stock and bond law ought to be revised so as to do justice, to meet the needs of the hour and to achieve the original object. Senator Culberson owes it to the people of Texas, now that he has vaguely expressed his views upon the subject, to make his meaning clear. If he is opposed to any change in the stock and bond law, he ought to say so in just so many words; or, if he thinks certain amendments are permissible, he ought to indicate what they are. The statement which he made at the legislative day banquet at the Dallas Fair is susceptible of different interpretation, and it certainly ought not to be opposed to definite and concrete proposals.—Galveston News.

"Now that he has vaguely expressed his views upon the subject," is good, in re Mr. Culberson. Thereby hangs the tale. Will one of these behind-the-curtain Austin correspondents tell us the casus Culberson entering his demurral to the proposed amendment of the stock and bond law? Failing that, Viewpoints could hazard a guess—could the tale unfold—and will now wager a five-dollar bet his guess would prove correct. How goes ye old English ballade: "The merry, merry May fields, the merry, merry May fields."

led, perhaps deceived. He may be actuated by ambition and ambition often beclouds good judgment; but, in the end, he has fathered a prosecution framed up by crooks.

Murders Breed Crime.

"This trial had its birth in the hearts of four murderers: Rose, Webber, Vallen and Schepps—self-confessed assassins, all of whom, when it is over, will be free men again, in this city, to murder again if they please."

"Rose, as the evidence showed, cherished an animosity against Rosenthal, as I will show. His feeling toward him was bitterer than gall; he connived at his murder and when detected, a link had to be forged connecting some one higher up."

The public mind had been inflamed; hysteria prevailed; public clamor was rampant. The evidence shows that the district attorney did not want small fry, but big fish. Rose saw his opportunity and the framing up of Becker then starts.

"There was no weapon in all the armory of fiction which he did not possess and use in his effort to incriminate the defendants."

"There needs be but one wise in the company of crooks and all become wise from contagion."

Balances Men.

"We balance one man with his opposite—Becker of good character, Rose, a self-confessed assassin."

Mr. McIntyre then began to review the evidence, beginning at the testimony of the state's eye witnesses. He declared that before Becker could be found guilty, the jury must find that the four gun men were the actual slayers of Rosenthal, otherwise the proof of conspiracy was not valid.

"If others did it," Mr. McIntyre asserted, "Becker is not guilty and you must find beyond a reasonable doubt that the gun men did it. You have any doubt about that?"

Becker's

those testimony Mr. McIntyre had attacked, identified without hesitation three of the four gunmen as the men who fired one shot which killed Rosenthal. As for Luban," Mr. Moss said, "it been charged that we failed to prove the woman who was with him. Should it be assumed that we could sue her? Perhaps Luban wanted to sue her. Is that anything against me?"

Tails of Alleged Motive.

"There was a tremendous motive on the part of Becker to put Rosenthal out of the way," continued Mr. Moss, pointing his finger at the defendant. "When he killed Becker rejoiced and Becker's acts preceding at the time of and after the murder establish a chain of circumstances together with the testimony of Schepps and other witnesses, adding the necessary element of corroboration that convict him of the crime."

"We ask you to convict this man on a multitude of circumstances which support each other, building up a structure of evidence irresistibly proving that this man committed the crime."

Mr. Moss completed his address at 7:25 o'clock this evening and court adjourned until 10 o'clock.

Mr. McIntyre closed at 2 o'clock after speaking four hours.

State Sum Up.

Assistant District Attorney Moss began summing up for the state when court reconvened shortly after 3:30 o'clock for the afternoon session.

In opening his address Mr. Moss said it was of no consequence which of the seven men charged with killing Rosenthal fired the fatal shot; all were equally guilty.

He declared the defense had charged the district attorney, "not only by inference, but by direct accusation," of misconduct such as to make his removal from office desirable if the facts were true.

By this vilification he continues the defense betrayed its own weakness.

"Can we go into the cess pool and pick out what witness we want?" he asked.

We cannot help the character of the witness.

The fact that the district attorney has been denounced by the defense simply shows the desperation of its cause.

He declared that Becker had misquoted the evidence of Jack Rose and had omitted Rose's declaration that Becker had said he wanted Rosenthal "murdered, dynamited, shot or crooked."

He also cited other instances in which he said, Mr. McIntyre had made misrepresentations.

Becker's Attorneys Interrupt.

"That's not true and you know it," interrupted Mr. McIntyre, rising and shaking his clenched fist at the speaker.

"It is true and I can prove it," reported Mr. Moss, answering McIntyre.

"I would never sleep if Becker were convicted on evidence unfairly presented. But I never will allow him to be acquitted on evidence suppressed or deliberately misrepresented."

Declares Becker Brains for Gunmen.

Mr. Moss said the four gunmen "were the men behind the guns" but that Becker was the "brains behind the men." "You never need fear about meeting these four gunmen on Broadway, nor these three men who confessed. If Rose, Vallen and Webber had stood pat, this case would have been a mystery; no one would have known who the real murderer was and Becker would have gone on with his illegal relations with Rose. You know as well as I do that it is the duty of the district attorney to accept the testimony of these three men."

He denied that Rose, Vallen and Webber had been given immunity.

Declares Attempt to Begof Issue.

"Their stipulations do not protect them from prosecution. If they fired a shot," he said, "and as to their walking down Broadway, I guess their friends, the gunmen of the underworld, will take care of that. To say these men are testifying to save their lives is to beg the issue."

Mr. Moss said that Krause the waiter

WITNESSES IN HARVESTER SUIT DECLARE THEY WERE SOON "FIRED."

Government Hears Many in Hope of Causing Dissolution of Company. Perkins Is Mentioned.

New York, Oct. 23.—When the International Harvester company, the so-called harvester "trust," was formed in 1902, its organization was made up of directors, some of whom held office not longer than twenty-four hours, according to several witnesses who testified today when hearings were begun here in the government's suit to dissolve the harvester company. Their connection, however, was not long enough, the testimony ran, for them to aid in the purchase of independent companies which formed the combination. One of these directors was R. E. Moore, who resigned after one day's directorship. He testified that his financial assistance to the "trust" was the purchase of the Minnie Harvester company for nearly $1,000,000, this company later passing into the control of the "trust."

Abram M. Hyatt, vice president of the Lincoln Trust company, was another witness who testified he was a director for a day only, while E. M. F. Miller, a Wall street broker, declared he was the first president of the harvester company, although he had never been in the business nor had connection with a harvester company prior to his election.

One of the witnesses said George W. Perkins suggested his election, but he did not recall who asked him to go, while other witnesses said they could not remember who suggested either their election or resignation.

Mr. Miller said he was sure he held office as president longer than twenty-four hours. He had never expected, he declared, to have permanent connection with the company either as president or director.

NEGRO GRABS YOUNG WOMAN

People of Otto Community Are Searching for Him—Suspicion Points to Local Character.

Marlin, Oct. 22.—The sheriff's department was notified last night that a young woman had been attacked by a negro at her home near Otto, seventeen miles northeast of Marlin.

From information received she had gone into the back yard at dark to extinguish a fire which had been left burning after the family washing had been done during the day.

She was grabbed by the intruder. She alarmed other members of the family, who came at once to her rescue and saw the negro disappear in the darkness of the night. He was not identified, but suspicion points to a negro who resides in the community, and whose present whereabouts has not been located.

Investigation is in progress by the sheriff's department.

While the attack was made Monday night, the matter was not reported to the officers here until last night, the precinct officers of Otto taking the matter in hand.

Alabama Declares Democrat Rules Are Needed.

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—The only relief possible from the high cost of living must be thorough a reduction of the tariff," declared Congressman Oscar Underwood here tonight. The Alabamian made two speeches at largely attended democratic mass meetings.

"The only way to reduce the tariff," said the congressman, "is through the election of a democratic congress and a democratic president. The tariff is the main and almost the only issue of the campaign, and Taft and Roosevelt are in the same category regarding it."

Mr. McIntyre criticized the district attorney for stipulating with Rose, Schepps and others granting immunity if they testified truthfully and had not fired the shot that killed Rosenthal.

"Do not confuse graft, bribery and extortion with murder," said Mr. McIntyre in conclusion. "Becker is on trial for murder, and murder alone."

Mr. McIntyre closed at 2 o'clock after speaking four hours.

Witnesses Characters Beyond Attorneys.

"As far as blame for the company's witness keep?" he asked. "Must we bring gentle folk to testify before they will be believed?"

It was "quibble" to declare, Mr. Moss continued that Becker might be convicted and the gunmen go free.

"You were prepared for some wonderful proof of a conspiracy to kill Rosenthal, and the four men of New York."

McIntyre attacked Becker's credibility, discrediting and convicting Becker.

"Do you think," asked McIntyre, "that Becker would have been convicted if he had not been a member of the underworld?"

"We were prepared for that by fierce cross examination of Rose, Webber and Vallen when they were interrogated concerning threats to kill Rosenthal and the offering of money to Rosenthal to get out of town which, it appeared, they might have discussed with various persons."

"Where is Proof?" asks Moss.

"Not one of these persons, was brought forward to prove the statements it is alleged they made to Rose, Webber and Vallen. What is the meaning of it?"

Is it putting up a false defense? Where is the proof of this underworld conspiracy, except in the questions of counsel for the defense?

Frederick Hawley, the newspaper reporter put on by the defense to prove an alibi for Becker in connection with his alleged meeting with Rose and Webber the morning of the murder, was declared by Mr. Moss to have been really innocent.

NO SUNDAY WORK UNDER TEXAS LAW

COURT OF CRIMINAL APPEALS AFFIRMS A FINE AGAINST A CARPENTER.

IS A WICHITA COUNTY CASE

Contractors Were Facing a Penalty for Delay, But Higher Court Says This Was Not an Emergency.

Austin, Oct. 23.—Only minor cases were passed upon in the Court of Criminal Appeals today, although a number of them were disposed of. No opinion was rendered in the case of Ex Parte John Real Sneed. Permission had been given counsel for the prosecution to file an additional brief. This delayed the proceedings.

The most important case from a standpoint of establishing legal precedent was that of E. A. Lane from Wichita county. Lane had been fined $10 for violating the Sunday law. He was a carpenter and worked on Sunday on a building. The contractors had directed that he do so if possible. They had a contract to finish the building by a certain time. For each day's delay there was a penalty of $50. They were facing a delay and found Sunday work necessary in order to cut down their losses.

Judge Hunter and Prendergast affirmed this case, saying that such a contract with its penalty provisions could not make an emergency within the meaning of the Sunday law. Presiding Judge Davidson dissented, taking the opposite view.

There was submitted to the court the case of Ex Parte M. M. Howley from Bexar county. This case involves a construction of the liquor laws of the state, the right of a dealer having two saloons to operate the second saloon after the license for operating the first has been cancelled. The state maintained through Assistant Attorney General C. E. Mead that the liquor dealer does not possess this right. R. H. Ward took the contrary view for the relator.

The court granted bail in the sum of $10,000 in the case of Ex Parte John Lloyd from Archer county. He is charged with killing Ernest Davis.

Affirmance was given in the case of M. A. Stevens from Bowie county, given five years in the penitentiary for violation of the pandering or white slave law of the Thirty-first legislature.

Because of an erroneous charge on self-defense, the case of John Irving from Harris county was reversed. He had been given the lowest penalty for murder in the second degree in connection with the death of Chat Jones.

Affirmance was ordered in the case of W. H. Yoakum from Dallas county, fined $100 and six months in jail for swindling.

Third District Appeals.

Austin, Oct. 23.—The following proceedings were had today in the Court of Civil Appeals, third district:

Fourth District Appeals.

San Antonio, Oct. 23.—The case of J. G. Gilmore vs. L. S. Brown, et al. from Dallas, was reversed and remanded in the Fourth court of civil appeals this morning.

Gilmore was founder of the Mount Rose Baptist church, a negro organization, and the case grew out of a suit at the corner of Cotton and Crown in the Mount Rose Baptist church.

Gilmore, in his plea of abatement, claims that the church owed him $4151 salary as pastor. The jury gave a verdict for the plaintiffs, divesting Gilmore of his title to the property.

SUIT AGAINST TENT SHOW AT WACO IS SETTLED IN HIGH COURT.

Third District Appeals Decides Deputy Constable Was Not There to Settle Disputes and Assign Seats.

Austin, Oct. 23.—The court of civil appeals today ordered affirmance in a rather novel case from McLennan county. It is styled H. D. Rucker vs. A. M. Barker, next friend of John Dyer.

According to the statement of facts, Rucker was the proprietor of a tent show. John Dyer entered his show, took his admission, and took a reserved seat. The seats were not designated. After taking his seat the woman next to him asked him to move, as the seat next to her would be occupied by a friend. The friend came, accompanied by a man. He was asked by the man to move from the seat he had taken after the woman's first request.

He declined to do so, saying that he was occupying his own seat. A row came up and J. J. Roberts, deputy constable, was called in. He was paid by the proprietor of the show to preserve order. The order was issued for Dyer to get up and give up his seat. He refused to do so, was dragged out by the deputy, held until the arrival of the hoodum wagon, and bundled off to jail, the request being made that a charge of disturbing the peace should be filed against him.

He sued H. D. Rucker for false imprisonment, received a judgment for $1000 actual and $250 punitive damages. The court of appeals affirmed the judgment, holding that the fact that Rucker was paying Roberts was not an item of consideration; that as a deputy constable it was his duty to arrest people for breach of the peace; that it was not his duty to determine who was entitled to seats, and it was not his duty to settle disputes.

"Bedast—For Two Years"

Mrs. Geronz Ezzell writes—I know your medicine helped me wonderfully. I was so weak and nervous I could not sleep. Had a severe headache every morning and could not get up. I am 45 years old and have been taking "Bedast" for two years. It has done great deal and your medicines helped me more than all the doctors. I took six bottles of "Favorite Prescription" and three of "Bedast." I am now sleep good and feel well again. My tongue is now clean and I have removed many of my symptoms. I know if I had taken six bottles more, I would have been cured. I was about bedfast for two years, now I do all my work and attend to my garden and chickens. I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's medicines too highly.

J. R. DORSETT IS DEAD

FOR TWENTY YEARS HE WAS CONNECTED WITH THE CITY WATERWORKS.

Served the Patrons of the Old White System, Then the Bell, and Later the City.

J. R. Dorsett, aged 56 years, well known to hundreds of Waco citizens by virtue of his connections with the waterworks department for the past twenty years, died yesterday at his home and at his residence at 1222 Barrett street at 4:15 o'clock yesterday. He is survived by a widow and one son, a mother and grandchild, by three brothers, Dory Dorsett and R. H. Dorsett of Runnels county and W. A. Dorsett of Waco, and one sister, Mrs. J. R. Conlee of Runnels county. Funeral services will be from the residence at 2 o'clock today. Rev. Mr. Gruber will officiate.

During his connection with the waterworks department Dorsett worked for the White waterworks, the second waterworks system completed in Texas, for the Bell Waterworks and then for the city. He was known generally throughout the city and his kind disposition and courtesy won him many friends.

On October 12 Dorsett suffered a stroke of paralysis and was never able to again leave his bed. He has been in poor health for the past two years. Interment will be at the Greenwood cemetery.

"Uncle Jack," they called him in terms of endearment about the waterworks department. Good natured to a fault, and accommodating to the superlative degree, he won the cordial good will of all who knew him. It always fell to his lot to "cut off" the water supply when tardy paymasters failed to make good their dues at the headquarters office, and while he performed the service in strict compliance with orders, he maintained a disposition in his dealings with the patrons that he became known pleasantly.

GAME DUCKS DYING.

Disease is Now to Sportmen and Scientists.

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—California game ducks are dying by thousands of disease new to sportmen and scientists.

After examination of six ducks, dead of the disease at Vista Lake, Keen county, the United States Bureau of Health here is unable to make a diagnosis but finds that the symptoms resemble those of an epidemic on Great Salt Lake, on which it is estimated 1,000,000 ducks died.

In the last stages of the disease the birds seem to be starved. They do not eat and become so weak they can barely move.

Carpenter Defeated.

Pasco, Oct. 22.—Billy Papke, the middleweight fighter of Illinois, tonight defeated the French champion, George Carpenter. The Frenchman quit after the seventh round. After weighing in at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Papke exceeded the middle-weight limit. Carpenter was under weight. The Frenchman's manager immediately claimed the title of the middleweight champion. He said:

"The fight will proceed as arranged, but it will not be for the title which now belongs to Carpenter."

WOMEN ACCUSED GET BAIL.

Persons Charged With Highway Robbery Under $2500 Bond Each.

Fort Worth, Oct. 23.—Bail will be allowed Mrs. Julia Crume-Aldrich-Nichols, Miss Annie Morris and Wylie Moore by an agreement today between their attorneys and the county attorney. The bond was fixed at $2500. At noon they were still in jail. They are charged with highway robbery with firearms. Their alleged victims were a married couple out hunting.

WILSON DELIVERS "SERMON"

Speaks at Celebration of Anniversary of Church at Trenton—Applause Greets His Remarks.

Trenton, N.J., Oct. 23.—In the solemn atmosphere of a church, apart from the noise of political demonstrations to which he has been accustomed during the last two months, Gov. Wilson delivered a speech tonight. It was virtually a sermon—the value of church organization, the principles of the founders of the church.

"Life with God in the church," something like this, he said, "is the chief interest of the people, and it has been emphasized by the community search for God over everything."

"I know that the church, however, is not the state, to be found only by men who are greater than themselves, a man who is indifferent to his own success, but confident only of the cause he represents, holds the hosts of Almighty God behind him."

The audience listened intently and applauded vigorously when the governor finished.

The governor and Mrs. Wilson motored back to their home in Princeton after the exercises. The nominee spent a quiet day at work on his correspondence. He said he had no announcement to make as yet with respect to campaign plans.

BRYAN'S TRAIN KILLS BOY, 6

Nebraskan Holds Crowd's Attention, Despite Rain—Springs an Original on Roosevelt in Speech.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 23.—As a climax to a long day of strenuous campaigning, Wm. J. Bryan spoke in the rain in the open air here tonight to a crowd too large to be accommodated in a hall which had been secured for the meeting.

In the audience were many women who stood without umbrellas and joined in the cheering for the Nebraskan.

His trip through those states was marked by a fatality, when his special train struck and killed a six-year-old boy at Townsend, a thirty miles south of here. The Nebraskan was not informed of the accident.

Throughout the day his talks were confined chiefly to national issues, the Nebraskan saying he "would let the Delaware speakers take care of local affairs."

In criticizing Colonel Roosevelt he declared that "if the progressive candidate believes himself to be a Moses, he must have mistaken the voice of Perkins for the voice of God."

Mr. Bryan left here shortly before 10 o'clock tonight for Parkersburg, Va.

QUESTIONS ARE SPIRITED.

"Kimmel's" Replies to Attorney Start Wrangle.

St. Louis, Oct. 23.—Spirited passages with attorneys for Mrs. Edna K. Bonelli, who is trying to collect $20,000 in insurance policies on the life of Geo. A. Kimmel, marked the cross-examination today of the man who declares he is the Kansas broker who disappeared in 1898. When Attorney Sweet asked him to recall an incident of his youth in Niles, Mich., the claimant asked Sweet, who lived only a few miles from Niles, the name of an old resident.

"Don't ask me," said Sweet. "I was only a boy then and can't remember all those things."

"Then," retorted the claimant, "you must be an impostor, too."

COST OF RUNNING FOR PRESIDENT

NATIONAL POLITICAL COMMITTEES DEAL WITH BIG FINANCIAL PROBLEMS.

EACH HAS DIFFERENT WAYS

Advertising Candidates Consists of Many Freak Schemes—Moving Picture Slides a Late Novelty.

New York, Oct. 23.—Directors of the three chief national political committees hold widely different views as to the best method of running a presidential campaign, according to information secured from headquarters here, showing where hundreds of thousands of dollars have gone this year.

Magazine, newspaper, bill board, poster and street car advertising thrusting upon the voter the name, achievements and promises of President Taft, has been the chief and most expensive feature of the Republican national committee's canvas.

The production and circulation of literature, arguments, news and letters of educational nature for which no money had to be paid for publication, has absorbed the greater part of the cash collected by the Progressive national committee.

A general political campaign, with one-half of the total expenditures devoted to advertising and publicity work, and fully one-fifth given to the traveling expenses of speakers, candidates and special organizers has characterized the activities of the Democratic national committee. Until the preliminary expenditure statements are made public late this week, a summary of the expenditures from the Republican and Progressive committees will not be available, a rough estimate given out at Democratic headquarters showing where approximately $550,000 has gone since the presidential fight opened in July, furnished a basis, however, for comparison as to methods in the different political camps, in a campaign which has been conducted more nearly upon lines of "business efficiency," than may yet have preceded.

Of the total Democratic expenditure about $330,000 will cover the activities of the "publicity end," it is said. This includes $50,000 for direct advertising in publications, $30,000 for "spoker plate," or service furnished to speakers, $10,000 for newspapers, and a large amount for mailing.

$1,000 in New York and $500 in Chicago, a larger outlay for clerical work than either the Republican or Progressive committees.

Hall and headquarters rent and advertising banners have cost the Democratic headquarters $15,000; expressage, $10,000; telephone service, $5,000; special labor organizers and bureaus, $5,000, and newspaper cartoon service, $5,000.

A complete system of financial records and card index accounting systems were installed in the Democratic headquarters before the expenditure of money began. It is stated that as the result of close application of business methods in the committee the contracts for printing of Wilson and Marshall lithographs were given to the lowest bidders.

VETERANS STORY BRINGS TEARS

Aged Man Tells Tale of Trouble Since Wife Left Him.

Dallas, Oct. 23.—Having passed his three score and ten years, and having lived with his wife for more than fifty-one years, who at the expiration of that time was declared insane and sent to the asylum at Terrell, an aged man appealed to Judge Young Wednesday morning and asked there was not some way that he might be allowed to remain at his modest home on one of the interstates, build him a little cottage, go let his wife and take care of her until she answers the summons of death.

As the Confederate veteran told his story to Judge Young and asked the county official for his advice, tears trickled down his cheeks. The old man pulled a blue handkerchief from his pocket, calmly wiped his eyes and expressed great love and admiration for his unfortunate helpmate.

"Judge, you see," said the veteran of many years, "I can't stay here much longer. My wife is now past eighty years and I want to get her care and for her the rest of my life. We have no children. We had lived together more than fifty years, each sharing our struggles as best we could. I haven't any money. All I have is my little home. I want to sell that and live with my wife as long as I live or as long as she lives."

TWO KILLED IN STREET DUEL.

Innocent Bystander Victim—Third in Party Surrenders.

Chickasha, Okla., Oct. 23.—Cordell and Jess Lockett are dead as the result of a street duel here tonight, and W. G. Rathbone, slayer of Lockett, is in jail.

Rathbone says Lockett opened fire and he sprang aside, the bullet hitting Cordell, who was passing him.

Rathbone says he then pulled his gun and ran, firing over his shoulder at Lockett, who was pursuing him.

He says that when he had used all but one cartridge he took deliberate aim and fired. Lockett falling dead at the shot. Rathbone surrendered to an officer.

Fogel Has No Buyer for Club.

Philadelphia, Oct. 23.—Jefferson Livingston of Cincinnati, today held a conference here with Horace Fogel, president of the Philadelphia National League baseball club, at which the purchase of the club was discussed but no arrangement was reached. Mr. Livingston says he made a cash offer not far below the million dollar mark.

The sacrifice of principle should not be accorded to money, and we have no funds. I take it that every republican will appreciate the force of his position, and that he will not his vote for the principles we hold so dear and as an endorsement of those who have fought so valiantly for the redemption and liberation of the republican party of Texas.

Very respectfully,

B. G. WARD,

Campaign Manager 11th Congressional District of Texas.

Mr. Shuman made a report on the meeting of the state association in Dallas and outlined a letter he has written to the advertising clubs over the state asking that when any doubtful scheme strikes the city, the secretary of the state association be notified at once, either by telegram or by letter.

Negress Is Cut on Arm.

Marlin, Tex., Oct. 23.—A negro woman very near bleeding to death yesterday from a knife wound in the arm. An artery was severed. A man of the same race, John Howard, has been arrested.

The sacrifice of principle should not be accorded to money, and we have no funds. I take it that every republican will appreciate the force of his position, and that he will not his vote for the principles we hold so dear and as an endorsement of those who have fought so valiantly for the redemption and liberation of the republican party of Texas.

New York, Oct. 23.—Rather a better weather map than expected caused a deal of selling in the cotton market, but the trade was reported to be buying on the decline and last prices showed a recovery of several points, with the closing tone steady, net unchanged to 5 points lower.

The market opened steady, with a decline of 1 to 4 points under liquidation which seemed inspired by the fact that the weather news failed to show us much frost in the south as suggested by the predictions of the previous day.

Buying by trade interests and houses with foreign connections caused some irregularity after the call, but rallies were comparatively limited and following the western belt forecast for fair and warmer weather the market turned easier again.

Trading was fairly active at the start, but became comparatively quiet after the close of Liverpool, while the market gradually eased off under local pressure and southern selling until active months were from 8 to 10 points net lower.

The eastern belt forecast for light frosts appeared to attract no special attention, but trade interests were concerned with buying on the decline and the market on the later trading rallied 7 or 8 points from the lowest on this support, covering of shorts and reports of a steady southern spot situation.

Rumors of financial troubles abroad were circulated during the afternoon and may have caused some of the selling from Wall street sources, but offerings were not heavy.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 23.—Cotton futures opened steady, unchanged to 2 points down compared with the last prices of yesterday. Cables were somewhat better than due, but the failure of frost to materialize in the western belt offset them. The forecast promised fair and warmer weather in the western belt, which stimulated selling after the call. At the end of the first half hour prices were 5 to 7 points under yesterday's close.

The market was dull and easy from the middle of the morning on and displayed no recuperative power. At the same time bears were not aggressive and made no attempt to put pressure on the market. Both sides appeared to be waiting on the gimmers' figures from the census bureau. Late in the morning rumors of a failure in Vienna and of a repulse of the Bulgarian force by the Turks caused selling to increase moderately.

At noon prices were 9 to 10 points under yesterday's last quotations.

In the afternoon the market steadied up on the attempt of shorts to take profits. At 2 o'clock prices were unchanged compared with the final figures of yesterday. The close was steady at a net decline of 1 to 3 points.

Do You Know There Is No Such Thing as a "PERFECT TITLE" TO REAL ESTATE?

Even the supposedly best can have one or more defects. Why? Because the "FLAWS" may be of such a nature that the County Records do not disclose the defects. Undisclosed claims may have escaped the attention of the County Records, the Abstracter and Lawyer. A suit may be filed at any time involving the Title to your property. Is it not well to have the same satisfaction as when the fire-bell rings and you know your property is protected against the flames?

You carry Life Insurance, Health Insurance, Accident Insurance, Fire Insurance, Liability Insurance, Theft Insurance, etc.; why not INSURE THE TITLE TO YOUR REAL ESTATE and protect it against undiscoverable liens, unheard of heirs, unknown judgments, unrecorded mortgages, in fact, the NATIONAL EXCHANGE INSURANCE & TRUST COMPANY guarantees to you that you have a good title and stands the loss, if you have not, defending all suits on your title, whether frivolous ones or not.

Why be satisfied with an attorney's opinion? For the same price you can purchase a policy guaranteeing your title to be perfect.

Those Who Need Title Insurance

1—TRADERS—Who own real estate they have on the market.

2—PROSPECTIVE PURCHASERS—Who want to get a guaranteed title they can dispose of without delay.

3—INDIVIDUALS AND CORPORATIONS—Who take mortgages on real estate.

4—OWNERS of large tracts which they wish to cut up.

There is no perfect title except an "Insured Title." Post yourself relative to "Real Estate Title Insurance" and have us insure yours at once. "You had better be safe than sorry."
